 - visiting the work environment of a nurse leader
 - submission of an abstract for a conference
 - development of article/s for ACN publication/s – peer reviewed

- contribution to the ENL leadership journal club and discussion forum (online)
- active participation in one or more ACN Faculties
- active participation in ACN Regions
- attendance of ACN National Nursing Forum
- involvement in ACN Nursing and Health Expos as an ambassador for the profession (if available in state/territory of participant)
- participation in ACN Career Coaching
- leading a significant cross-organisational project
- participation in ACN policy and professional representation
- attending an ACN Leadership workshop as outlined in the ENL program
- undertaking two online ACN webinars offered to ENLs
- completion of Career Pathway Project
- submission of a periodic assessment produced throughout the program, summarising the personal growth and professional development experienced as a result of the ENL program.

Outcomes

- Demonstrated early career nurse leadership qualities
- Demonstrated experience in advocacy, professional representation and engagement
- Development of knowledge and skills to manage people and resources at the unit level
